Subject: RE: CFAC Community Assessment

Hi Mary,

Yes, we are continuing our community assessment and we are looking at conducting an initial round of community interviews the week of Jun 13th. We just got the go-ahead for this so news travels fast.

I will be happy to share some of the details when they are more defined. For now, I can address a few of your questions:

1. Who will be involved in the interview process – EPA & SKEO (consultant),
2. Who will lead the discussions – Mike Cirian and I.
3. What stakeholders will be interviewed - To get a broad community representation, we are compiling a list of contacts from different categories: Elected officials, local government, private business, non-profit groups, school/education, former CFAC employees, adjacent landowners, non-profit groups, news media, private citizens, environmental justice and underserved communities.
4. The template for the interview, including the questions, These are being vetted
5. The timeline for completion of the process (including the executive summary, the results as well as allow me an opportunity to review the report). – TBD

I will follow up soon. Thanks Mary!

Subject: CFAC Community Assessment

Robert,

I hope this note finds you well.

I am following up on information Mike Cirian shared with John Stroiazzo yesterday. It is John's understanding you and Mike, along with your consultant, will be moving forward with the agency's community assessment mid-June.

As you plan the steps for that work, I'd like to ask you to share details and plans with me, including:

1. Who will be involved in the interview process (agency, consultants, etc.),
2. Who will lead the discussions,
3. What stakeholders will be interviewed,

4. The template for the interview, including the questions, and
5. The timeline for completion of the process (including the executive summary, the results as well as allow me an opportunity to review the report).

If there is a chance for me to provide input into the process, please let me know that, as well.

Many thanks, and I look forward to hearing from you.

Regards,
Mary
